Dear Sir/ Madam,

I am writing this letter to express my interest in the Senior Production Management position at your company. I work in apparel and footwear industry for 8 years with many skills from my last positions that can translate to success in this role.

I used to work in manufacturing company for 2 years, worked in third party laboratory for over 6 years, doing with many kinds of apparel, backpack and footwear products. I focus on products quality, production, material, component of products. Moreover, my previous position afforded me a well-rounded skill set, I excel at

- I thorough understanding of Textile/Apparel production, raw materials, product structure and how it relates to manufacturing by working with many brands and their manuals, SOP in many year.
- Strong project management capabilities to manage multiple project streams and complexity. I had experience to managed two big team for Inditex and Target brands which are in top 5 revenue and help brands and factories control the quality of product following the best way.
- I value the experience of working with different people, receiving feedbacks, learning from others, understand their needs and how I can offer support. I see myself as a proactive person, a team player connecting people together to achieve goals and purposes.

I believe my background in consumer industry would provide value for your team by adding a unique perspective. I am ready to become a member at Fast Retailing. If you know of a more appropriate position or an opening that has recently been vacated, I would be grateful for your consideration.

Please review my below application for additional details regarding my expertise and achievements. Do not hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or need further clarification of my experience. I would love to meet with you and discuss the position in detail.

Best regards,

Hao Chau
